

THE INNER WHEEL

✧ Celestial Roadmap ✧

WESTERN TRANSIT FORECAST

Paul B

Born 2008-03-24 at 00:32 — PAssaic New Jersey

Transit Date: Tuesday, May 26, 2026

Highly Active — 100% Intensity

A highly active transit period with significant planetary influences. A mix of supportive and challenging energies creates dynamic growth.

BIRTH CHART DATA

Paul B

BORN: March 24, 2008 12:32 AM PAssaic New Jersey

RISING: Sagittarius

PROFECTION YEAR: 7th house

PROFECTION SIGN: Gemini

TIME LORD: Mercury

REPORT PERIOD: March 2026 – March 2027

☉ Your Natal Blueprint

Sun: Aries | Moon: Scorpio | Rising: Sagittarius

PLANET	SIGN	DEGREE
Sun	Aries	3.92°
Moon	Scorpio	1.23°
Mercury	Pisces	13.75°
Venus	Pisces	13.89°
Mars	Cancer	7.34°
Jupiter	Capricorn	19.18°
Saturn	Virgo	3.01°
Uranus	Pisces	19.51°
Neptune	Aquarius	23.21°
Pluto	Capricorn	1.13°
Rahu	Aquarius	25.94°
Chiron	Aquarius	19.18°
Lilith	Scorpio	28.10°
Ketu	Leo	25.94°
Ascendant	Sagittarius	7.40°

Annual Profecion

Age 18 — 7th House Profecion Year

Your Time Lord for this year is Mercury, ruler of your Sagittarius Ascendant.

Transits involving Mercury carry extra weight.

Active Transits

20 aspects found — 9 harmonious ✦ | 11 challenging ✧

TRANSIT	ASPECT	NATAL	ORB	INTENSITY
✦ Transit Sun	Sextile ACUTE	Natal Sun	1.4°	● ● ●
Sun invites your core identity and life purpose to stretch gently. The opportunity is subtle but genuine.
✦ Transit Venus	Conjunction	Natal Mars	1.6°	● ●
Passion meets tenderness. The erotic and the aesthetic fuse into creative magnetism.
✦ Transit Mars	Sextile	Natal Mars	1.6°	● ●
Mars supports your drive, courage, and directed force. A small, decisive step creates disproportionate momentum.
✧ Transit Sun	Square	Natal Saturn	2.3°	● ●
Authority meets resistance from within. The father-wound or the structure you have outgrown demands renegotiation.
✦ Transit Mars	Trine	Natal Saturn	2.7°	● ●
Disciplined effort yields visible results. The hard work you have already done begins to pay off.
✧ Transit Jupiter	Opposition	Natal Jupiter	3.9°	●
Jupiter faces your faith, growth trajectory, and philosophical stance with its consequences. Growth has a shadow — examine it.
✧ Transit Saturn	Square	Natal Mars	4.4°	●
The body meets resistance it cannot overpower. Patience becomes the only viable strategy.
✧ Transit Mars	Opposition	Natal Moon	4.5°	●
Action and emotion polarize. The anger is information — listen to it before acting on it.
✧ Transit Moon	Square	Natal Mars	4.8°	●
The emotional current runs hot. Channel the surge into purposeful action rather than reactive discharge.
✦ Transit Venus	Trine	Natal Mercury	4.8°	●
Venus aligns with your thinking patterns and communication style. Insight arrives without struggle.

TRANSIT	ASPECT	NATAL	ORB	INTENSITY
✦ Transit Venus	Trine	Natal Venus	4.9°	●
Pleasure deepens. This is not indulgence — it is recognition of what your soul has been asking for.
✧ Transit Venus	Square	Natal Sun	5.1°	●
Venus challenges your core identity and life purpose. The friction is productive if you do not avoid it.
✧ Transit Mercury	Square	Natal Venus	5.3°	●
The articulate and the beautiful pull in different directions. Find the phrase that is both true and lovely.
✧ Transit Mercury	Square	Natal Mercury	5.4°	●
Mercury disrupts your thinking patterns and communication style. The idea that breaks is not the one you need.
✦ Transit Venus	Sextile	Natal Saturn	6°	●
Practical beauty. What you build or mend now carries both function and grace.

Transit Timeline

DATE	TRANSIT	YOUR INVITATION	INTENSITY
2026-05-26	Sun Sextile Natal Sun	Write the choice this transit makes visible before the next deadline.	● ● ●
2026-05-26	Venus Conjunction Natal Mars	Schedule the conversation connected to this house before the week ends.	● ● ●
2026-05-26	Mars Sextile Natal Mars	Name the obligation this pattern keeps returning to your calendar.	● ● ●
2026-05-26	Sun Square Natal Saturn	Track the body signal that appears when this transit is active.	● ●
2026-05-26	Mars Trine Natal Saturn	Decide which practical boundary belongs in writing for this cycle.	● ●
2026-05-26	Jupiter Opposition Natal Jupiter	Ask the directly affected person for the missing agreement today.	● ●
2026-05-26	Saturn Square Natal Mars	Build one repeatable step that supports this house domain now.	● ●
2026-05-26	Mars Opposition Natal Moon	Remove the task that keeps this transit tied to an expired role.	● ●
2026-05-26	Moon Square Natal Mars	Complete the document, message, or repair this pattern keeps naming.	● ●
2026-05-26	Venus Trine Natal Mercury	Identify the resource this house requires before momentum returns.	● ●

THE PROFECTION NARRATIVE: ENTERING THE YEAR OF THE MERCURY

This forecast is prepared for Paul B. You enter your 18th year under the directorship of Mercury, a Time Lord that casts a singular illumination across your path. This is a 7th House profection year, and with Mercury as your guide, you stand at The Threshold of Agreement. The central metaphor for the year is the Architect of the Covenant. You are tasked with articulating, documenting, and formalizing the unspoken compacts and visible contracts that govern your relationships. Mercury, natively placed in Pisces in your 4th house, brings an intuitive, deeply feeling quality to this task, grounding your relational agreements in emotional truth and ancestral understanding. Pisces Mercury often senses the currents beneath the words, making your task as the Architect of the Covenant less about rigid legalism and more about the felt resonance of reciprocal exchange. As the Time Lord for this year, Mercury governs your 10th house of public legacy and worldly calling. This means the clarity and integrity of your relational agreements are not merely personal but directly impact your reputation, career, and how you are seen in the larger world. Mercury, as ruler of your 10th house of public legacy and worldly calling, carries the energy of public legacy and worldly calling into your 7th house of partnership and significant others, which firmly establishes that the narratives you craft with others become the very foundation of your professional standing and the recognition you receive. The 7th house signifies open enemies, intimate partners, and formal agreements. It is the house where "self" meets "other" and where the lines of engagement are drawn. Under Mercury's direction, this meeting becomes a precise act of definition. You are called to witness the precise boundary between self and other, not merely feeling it, but naming it. Your natal Mercury in Pisces in the 4th house signals a deeply empathetic and intuitive communication style, particularly within the foundational structures of your life: family, home, and emotional roots. This year, as the Architect of the Covenant, this sensitivity becomes a powerful tool for discerning the unsaid and bringing it into articulated forms. However, the Piscean tendency towards diffusion or idealism also presents a challenge at the Threshold of Agreement, requiring conscious effort to translate subtle feelings into concrete terms. The task is not to surrender your sensitivity but to channel it into creating agreements that honor both the implicit and the explicit dimensions of your connections. Your natal Mercury is also in a mutable sign, which lends flexibility and adaptability to your communication, but this year it demands that flexibility be applied to refining terms, not avoiding you. Your Sun, positioned in Aries in the 5th house, represents your creative self-expression and identity. The Sun, as ruler of your 9th house of philosophy, higher truth, and expansion, carries the energy of philosophy, higher truth, and expansion into your 7th house of partnership and significant others, which confirms that your core identity and the broader philosophical frameworks you adopt will be filtered through the lens of your partnerships this year, shaping how you understand and define mutuality. Your Aries Sun asks you to be direct, to lead with your authentic self. Coupled with the Mercury Time Lord, this means that your agreements must be fiercely authentic and express who you truly are, not who you think others want you to be. The 5th house is also about creativity and risk-taking, suggesting that the covenants you build will require courage and a willingness to put your unique stamp on relational structures. The presence of Venus in Pisces, also in your 4th house, alongside your natal Mercury, further emphasizes the emotional and deeply personal nature of your agreements this year. Venus, as ruler of your 11th house of community, vision, and belonging, carries the energy of community, vision, and belonging into your 8th house of shared resources, transformation, and depth, which implies your bonds to groups and future aspirations will drive the profound transformations you experience through shared intimacies and collective resources. This harmonious placement enhances your capacity for empathy and compassion within partnerships, making you acutely aware of the emotional texture of your covenants. The challenge, however, will be to ensure that compassion does not dissolve into vague sentimentality, preventing the clear boundaries Mercury demands. The Architect of the Covenant must sometimes make difficult choices, prioritizing structural integrity over emotional appeasement. Mars in Cancer in the 8th house gives an emotional, protective, and inwardly directed drive to your engagements, especially concerning shared resources and intimacy. Mars, as ruler of your 12th house of solitude, the subconscious, and the unseen, carries the energy of solitude, the subconscious, and the unseen into your 6th house of health, daily rhythm, and service, revealing that your drive for practical order and daily routines is profoundly influenced by hidden currents and subconscious patterns that demand recognition. This Mars adds a layer of depth and intensity to your negotiations; you protect what is shared fiercely. The 7th house protection year, under Mercury's direction, asks you to channel this protective energy into clearly articulated terms, ensuring that the emotional vulnerabilities you sense are addressed through formal understanding, rather than left to implicit assumptions that can lead to resentment or conflict. Your Moon in Scorpio in the 12th house suggests a deeply private, intense emotional nature, often processing feelings in hidden or solitary ways. Moon, as ruler of your 8th house of shared resources, transformation, and depth, carries the energy of shared resources, transformation, and depth into your 11th house of community, vision, and belonging, making profound transformations and shared intimacies the source material for how you find your place within groups and envision your future. This placement underscores the need for genuine, transparent agreements. As the Architect of the Covenant at the Threshold of Agreement, you are uniquely positioned to bring these hidden emotional currents and subconscious dynamics into the light, translating you into conscious, reciprocal terms with others. This year, the work of formalizing relationships empowers the integration of your hidden emotional landscape.

ARCHITECTURAL RESTRUCTURING: THE OUTER PLANET CYCLES

The outer planets — Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto — are the master builders and demolishers of the psyche, enacting transformations that ripple across decades. you operate as deep currents, reshaping the very contours of your internal and external architectures. This year, under the Mercury-led 7th house profection, these larger cycles profoundly influence your work as the Architect of the Covenant, subtly altering the blueprints and materials you use to construct your agreements. you are the unseen forces that define the stability or fluidity of the Threshold of Agreement, continually compelling you to refine your contractual understanding of self and other.

Transit Saturn Square Natal Mars — May 26 (and beyond)

Saturn is currently in Pisces, and from February 13th, 2026, it enters Aries. Its square to your natal Mars in Cancer is a significant long-term activation, creating friction between your drive for security and your desire for direct action. This square solidifies boundaries around your energetic output, compelling you to identify where your will is being met with structural resistance. It is not a resistance meant to thwart you, but to refine your approach, forcing a confrontation with anything that lacks genuine strength or sustainable foundation. Saturn's current transit through Aries requires you to understand that your protective, emotionally fueled drives (Mars in Cancer) must align with more disciplined, explicit structures. As the Architect of the Covenant, this aspect demands that the structures you build through agreement are robust enough to withstand internal and external pressures. The resistance you encounter in partnership dynamics forces a deeper evaluation of how you state your needs and protect your emotional core. The tension between the impulsive drive of Mars and the consolidating force of Saturn means that any attempt to push through with raw emotional force now encounters a hardened wall, requiring a more considered, strategic approach. This transit compels you to accept the limitations inherent in certain creative or competitive endeavors, which forces a reorganization of your efforts into more sustainable patterns. Saturn, as ruler of your 3rd house of communication and immediate environment, carries the energy of communication and immediate environment into your 5th house of creativity, romance, and self-expression, compelling a formalization of your creative output or a disciplined approach to how you articulate your personal desires. This transit forces a stalemate in your attempts to pursue creative freedom, demanding that you replace impulsive action with a carefully documented plan that resolves the structural impediments.

Transit Jupiter Opposition Natal Jupiter — May 26 (and beyond)

Jupiter's opposition to itself is a powerful moment of re-evaluation regarding your core beliefs about expansion, generosity, and abundance. Your natal Jupiter is in Capricorn in the 2nd house, signifying a grounded, practical approach to resources and self-worth. This transit brings a direct confrontation with the very foundations of your security and your established sense of value. It tests your entrenched beliefs about what constitutes true wealth and fulfillment, asking whether your current expressions of generosity and faith are truly serving your deepest principles. As Jupiter moves from Cancer into Leo on June 30th, this opposition will pivot, further emphasizing how your personal sense of worth (2nd house) is being challenged through expansive, sometimes even overwhelming, interactions in your home life and eventually in your creative life. As the Architect of the Covenant, this alignment forces you to scrutinize the hidden clauses in your agreements that inadvertently diminish your self-worth or overextend your resources. It exposes where your generosity has become a liability, demanding a more balanced reciprocal exchange within your partnerships. This aspect generates a direct challenge to your ingrained sense of financial ethics or personal value, compelling you to establish new parameters for shared resources and investments. Jupiter, as ruler of your 4th house of home, roots, and ancestry, carries the energy of home, roots, and ancestry into your 8th house of shared resources, transformation, and depth, which generates a profound re-evaluation of your inherited financial patterns or family values, compelling a necessary transformation in how you engage with shared assets.

Transit Neptune in Aries (throughout 2026)

Neptune's long-term transit through Aries, particularly in its early degrees, subtly dissolves outdated notions of self-assertion and pioneering spirit. Your natal Mars is in Cancer, and your Sun is in Aries, placing a strong emphasis on your personal will and identity. Neptune's presence here creates a permeable boundary around your self-concept, inviting a more spiritual or diffuse understanding of what it means to initiate and lead. This is less about specific events and more about a pervasive atmospheric shift. As the Architect of the Covenant, Neptune in Aries can blur the lines of individual agency within agreements, compelling you to attune to the collective, unseen forces at play in your partnerships. The structures you build must now account for a more fluid reality where individual identity is less about fixed boundaries and more about interconnectedness. This creates an oceanic current of empathy and interconnectedness, which dissolves rigid expectations of individual effort, enabling a more compassionate and intuitive approach to collaborative endeavors. Neptune, as ruler of your 4th house of home, roots, and ancestry, carries the energy of home, roots, and ancestry into your 1st house of identity and physical body, which cultivates a deeper spiritual connection to your origins, facilitating a more authentic and fluid self-expression that transcends conventional definitions.

Transit Uranus in Uranus in Taurus moving to Gemini (throughout 2026)

Uranus's movement from Taurus into Gemini marks a pivotal shift in how you experience liberation and disruption within your life, especially concerning your security, values, and subsequently, your communicative patterns. Your natal Uranus is in Pisces in the 4th house, suggesting that your deeper sense of freedom is tied to radical self-acceptance and a fluid understanding of your emotional foundations. As Uranus enters Gemini, it generates an electric charge through your 7th house of relationships and the public square. This signals unforeseen shifts in your agreements and a radicalizing of your stance on partnership dynamics. The Architect of the Covenant faces an imperative to name innovation in how pacts are forged, discarding old forms that stifle individual expression or freedom within shared contexts. This long-arc transit compels you to inject radical innovation into your communication and contractual arrangements. You must accept that fixed agreements will be spontaneously disrupted, which generates profound shifts in your communicative style and relational expectations. Uranus, as ruler of your 3rd house of communication and immediate environment, carries the energy of communication and immediate environment into your 6th house of health, daily rhythm, and service, which generates sudden insights or disruptions in your daily routines, specifically impacting how you communicate within your work environment.

Transit Pluto in Aquarius (throughout 2026)

Pluto's extended stay in Aquarius, directly impacting your 3rd house of communication, short journeys, and immediate environment, represents a profound and irreversible restructuring of how you perceive and engage with your local community and your thought processes. Your natal Pluto is in Capricorn in the 2nd house, indicating a deep-seated drive to transform your resources and redefine your values. This powerful, slow-moving force works to strip away superficial layers of intellectual engagement and forces a confrontation with the true power dynamics embedded in your daily interactions and information streams. You are compelled to redefine your social circles, the narratives you consume, and the very structure of your learning environment. As the Architect of the Covenant, this transit ensures that the agreements you establish are not merely intellectual exercises but are rooted in profound psychological truth, compelling you to dismantle superficial interactions in favor of genuinely transformative ones. The transformation of your mental landscape and immediate social sphere becomes an undeniable force, solidifying a new, more potent form of intellectual and communal engagement. Pluto, as ruler of your 2nd house of money, capacity, and values, carries the energy of money, capacity, and values into your 3rd house of communication and immediate environment, which generates a profound transformation in how you perceive and articulate your inherent worth, compelling a new methodology for financial negotiation or daily exchange.

THE MIRROR OF TIME: RETROGRADES AND PSYCHIC INTEGRATION

Retrograde periods are not times of stagnation but deeply fertile seasons for introspection, review, and the reclamation of inner resources. you are the periods when the Architect of the Covenant turns inward, examining the foundations of agreements and retrieving forgotten clauses from the archives of the self. During these cycles, the Threshold of Agreement becomes less about outward negotiation and more about internal alignment, ensuring that the structures built are congruent with your deepest truths. The energy now flows inward, inviting a reprocessing of past experiences and a re-calibration of your internal compass.

Mercury Retrograde — Feb 26 to Mar 20 (Pisces)

Your Time Lord, Mercury, will undergo its first retrograde of the year in Pisces, the sign of its natal placement, but within your 4th house. This is a profound period of internal re-evaluation regarding your foundational beliefs, ancestral connections, and emotional security. With Mercury natively in Pisces, this retrograde amplifies your intuitive and empathetic communication, drawing your attention to unspoken agreements within your family or the unwritten rules of your home environment. You are called to revisit and retrieve old narratives about emotional safety and belonging. This is not a time for initiating new communications but for reviewing past interactions for missed emotional cues, unacknowledged feelings, or ancestral patterns that have inadvertently shaped your present agreements. As the Architect of the Covenant, you are recovering the emotional blueprints of your personal compacts, ensuring you are rooted in authentic feeling rather than inherited obligation. This specific retrograde enables a deep dive into the archives of familial communications, facilitating the reprocessing of submerged emotional information that underpins your sense of security. Mercury, as ruler of your 10th house of public legacy and worldly calling, carries the energy of public legacy and worldly calling into your 4th house of home, roots, and ancestry, facilitating a retrieval of old professional aspirations or family legacies, re-evaluating your resonance with your current foundational needs.

Mercury Retrograde — Jun 29 to Jul 23 (Cancer)

The second Mercury retrograde of the year occurs in Cancer, placing it in your 8th house of shared resources, intimacy, and transformation. This period directs your communicative focus towards revisiting the terms of your shared vulnerabilities, debts, or inherited assets. Cancer emphasizes emotional security and protection. During this retrograde, you are retrieving past conversations about intimacy, trust, and the distribution of power within significant relationships. This is a powerful time to unearth unspoken expectations or implicit agreements that govern shared finances or emotional resources. As the Architect of the Covenant, you are compelled to re-list the fine print of your psychological and material investments, clarifying what truly belongs to you and what is shared. This phase encourages a reprocessing of past intimate dialogues, which enables you to reclaim your emotional investments and renegotiate terms that have become unbalanced. Mercury, as ruler of your 10th house of public legacy and worldly calling, carries the energy of public legacy and worldly calling into your 8th house of shared resources, transformation, and depth, compelling a re-evaluation of how your professional reputation or worldly contributions are intertwined with shared financial arrangements or intimate vulnerabilities.

Mercury Retrograde — Oct 24 to Nov 13 (Scorpio)

The final Mercury retrograde of the year passes through Scorpio, activating your 12th house of hidden matters, subconscious patterns, and self-undoing. This is the deepest dive into the psyche, compelling a retrieval of veiled information, secrets, or unconscious patterns that have profoundly shaped your interactions and agreements. Scorpio energy is intense, seeking truth at any cost. This retrograde urges you to return to the shadows, recovering parts of your emotional landscape that have been deliberately suppressed or left unexamined. As the Architect of the Covenant, you are called to acknowledge the hidden clauses in your psychological contracts, ensuring you no longer operate outside conscious awareness. This internal excavation allows for a reprocessing of subconscious fears, enabling you to integrate fragmented parts of yourself into a more complete relational awareness. Mercury, as ruler of your 10th house of public legacy and worldly calling, carries the energy of public legacy and worldly calling into your 12th house of solitude, the subconscious, and the unseen, which generates a profound re-evaluation of your public persona in light of hidden psychological patterns, compelling a process of introspection that redefines your vocational path.

Venus Retrograde — Oct 3 to Nov 13 (Scorpio to Libra)

Venus's retrograde journey begins in Scorpio, in your 12th house, then retreats into Libra, affecting your 11th house. This initiates a profound re-evaluation of your values concerning intimacy, shared pleasure, and eventually, your social connections and larger aspirations. In Scorpio, you are retrieving forgotten desires and hidden aspects of attraction, particularly those concerning emotional depth and vulnerability. As Venus shifts into Libra, the focus turns to reviewing your aesthetic preferences, your sense of fairness, and the dynamics within your friendships and group affiliations. As the Architect of the Covenant, this retrograde compels you to reassess the hidden price of harmony within your relationships. It requires you to reclaim your true desires and align your agreements with you, rather than sacrificing authenticity for the sake of peace or belonging. This is a period of reabsorbing lessons about reciprocal exchange, requiring you to redefine the balance of give and take in your most significant bonds. This retrograde period enables a profound re-evaluation of your emotional investments in hidden dynamics, facilitating a reclaiming of personal values within social structures. Venus, as ruler of your 11th house of community, vision, and belonging, carries the energy of community, vision, and belonging into your 12th house of solitude, the subconscious, and the unseen, necessitating a retrieval and re-evaluation of your place within collective vision, compelling a deeper understanding of your unspoken yearning for connection.

Saturn Retrograde — Jul 26 to Dec 10 (Aries)

Saturn stations retrograde in Aries, located in your 5th house of creativity, joy, and self-expression. This long-arc retrograde signals a period for internalizing lessons about discipline, authority, and the structures that support your creative endeavors. Since Saturn has only recently entered Aries (Feb 13), this retrograde means you are quickly re-evaluating the initial steps and commitments you made regarding new projects or expressions of your unique identity. As the Architect of the Covenant, this phase compels you to revisit the foundational rules governing your creative output or your willingness to take risks. You are reprocessing your relationship with delayed gratification and the effort required to manifest your desires. This period enables a crucial re-evaluation of the initial boundaries you set around your personal passions, which refines your understanding of sustainable creative investment. Saturn, as ruler of your 3rd house of communication and immediate environment, carries the energy of communication and immediate environment into your 5th house of creativity, romance, and self-expression, compelling a rigorous internal review of how your practical communications shape your personal creative endeavors.

Neptune Retrograde — Jul 7 to Dec 12 (Aries)

Neptune stations retrograde in Aries, also in your 5th house, echoing and deepening the themes of Saturn's retrograde in Aries. This long, subtle period urges a spiritual and emotional reprocessing of your creative identity and how you state yourself. Where Saturn demands structure, Neptune dissolves illusion. This retrograde asks you to retrieve a more idealized or compassionate understanding of your creative endeavors, moving beyond ego-driven motivations. As the Architect of the Covenant, Neptune's retrograde compels you to dissolve any rigid or unrealistic expectations about the creative contracts you forge, allowing for a more fluid and universally connected expression of your unique gifts. This enables a profound re-absorption of your ideals about authorship and self-expression, refining the spiritual dimensions of your creative path. Neptune, as ruler of your 4th house of home, roots, and ancestry, carries the energy of home, roots, and ancestry into your 5th house of creativity, romance, and self-expression, fostering a deeper, more empathetic connection to your creative origins, compelling a re-evaluation of how your ancestral lineage influences your artistic voice.

Uranus Retrograde — Sep 10 to (into 2027) (Gemini)

Uranus stations retrograde in Gemini, taking it into your 7th house—the house of your profection. This powerful alignment initiates a period of internalizing revolutionary insights regarding your partnerships and agreements. Since Uranus has only recently entered Gemini, this retrograde ensures you are thoroughly reprocessing the initial disruptions and freedom-seeking impulses that have begun to electrify your major relationships. As the Architect of the Covenant at the Threshold of Agreement, this retrograde compels you to reclaim your individual autonomy within all shared structures, requiring you to dismantle any agreements that have become restrictive or inauthentic, leading to a more liberated understanding of mutuality. This retrograde enables a profound reassessment of the radical shifts that have occurred in your partnerships, enabling you to reclaim your unique voice within the context of shared agreements. Uranus, as ruler of your 3rd house of communication and immediate environment, carries the energy of communication and immediate environment into your 7th house of partnership and significant others, compelling a fundamental re-evaluation of how disruptive communication or unexpected changes within your immediate social sphere necessitates a renegotiation in your core agreements.

Jupiter Retrograde — Dec 12 to (into 2027) (Leo)

Jupiter stations retrograde in Leo, in your 9th house of higher learning, philosophy, and foreign travel. This marks a period of internalizing your beliefs about growth, truth, and expansion, particularly regarding your worldview. After Jupiter's ingress into Leo on June 30th, this retrograde compels you to revisit and refine your philosophical outlook and your understanding of truth. As the Architect of the Covenant, this retrograde urges you to ensure that the agreements you craft are aligned with your highest ethical principles, requiring you to re-measure where your expansive beliefs have outpaced your actual capacity or commitment. This process enables a deeper philosophical introspection, reclaiming a more authentic and integrated understanding of your overarching purpose. Jupiter, as ruler of your 4th house of home, roots, and ancestry, carries the energy of home, roots, and ancestry into your 9th house of philosophy, higher truth, and expansion, compelling a profound internal review of how inherited family philosophies shape your quest for wisdom and universal understanding.

LUNAR GATEWAYS: THE ECLIPSES AND PERSONAL TURNING POINTS

Eclipses are cosmic resets, intensified Thresholds that accelerate karmic patterns and force sudden shifts in focus. you operate as concentrated periods of release and new inception, often pushing you across a critical boundary with surprising speed. During this year, as the Architect of the Covenant, these Lunar Gateways illuminate the agreements that are dissolving and those that are being forged anew, often outside your conscious control. you represent non-negotiable points of no return, where life itself steps in to redraw the lines of engagement. The core purpose of an eclipse is to clear the slate, to provide a definitive end to certain patterns, thereby enabling a new beginning, even if that beginning feels disorienting at first. you are moments when the universe intervenes to adjust the blueprint, sometimes abruptly. (Note: No eclipses were provided in the prompt for detailed interpretation. Should specific eclipse dates and signs be provided, this section would expand significantly with analysis of your impact on the Profecion Year's themes and your natal chart.)

ACUTE ACTIVATION: Sun Sextile Natal Sun — May 26

This alignment acts as a psychic spike, a precise hit of harmonious energy to your core identity. Occurring with an orb of just 1.4 degrees, this specific activation is a moment of clear alignment between your conscious will and your personal expression. Your Sun is in Aries at 3.92°, placed in your 5th house of creativity and self-expression. This sextile illuminates how your personal actions are organically supported by the creative and philosophical endeavors you initiate. This is not a force of initiation, but a moment when your inherent leadership and creative courage find an easy channel for manifestation. The Director of the Year, Mercury, governs your efforts as the Architect of the Covenant. This Sun sextile emphasizes that your authentic self-expression naturally facilitates the clear articulation of agreements. The energy of this activation is one of effortless integration, where your will to create directly translates into visible, harmonious results. The Sun's energy, now in Gemini, brings a communicative, analytical quality to this alignment, further boosting your ability to articulate your creative vision. This transit confirms that your unique contribution and sense of self are precisely calibrated to generate the specific insights that clarify your relational structures, solidifying your role as the Architect of the Covenant with grace and precision.

Invitation: Before May 26, consciously name the one creative project or personal endeavor that most authentically represents your unique identity right now, and then allocate a dedicated block of time to express it without inhibition.

ACUTE ACTIVATION: Transit Sun Square Natal Saturn — May 26

This acute activation, with an orb of 2.3 degrees, represents a direct challenge to the structures and boundaries within your daily life that your identity seeks to transcend. Your natal Saturn is in Virgo at 3.01°, Rx, located in your 10th house of career and public standing. This square pushes against your established sense of professional responsibility or public image, forcing a confrontation between your need for self-expression (Sun in Gemini) and the limitations or disciplines imposed by your career path or societal expectations. The Time Lord, Mercury, is the guiding force of your year, making this square a pinpoint pressure directly upon the very structures that define your public reputation and communication. As the Architect of the Covenant, this aspect compels you to precisely and unambiguously define the terms of your public engagement, forcing you to articulate where your personal truth is in conflict with external demands. This conflict is not designed to defeat you, but to refine the integrity of the agreements that underpin your status and social contributions, bringing greater definition to your role at the Threshold of Agreement. This transit generates a confrontation between your desired public identity and established professional limitations, forcing a clear articulation of your boundaries within your career structure.

Invitation: Before May 26, identify one specific professional obligation or public expectation that feels constricting; then, draft a declarative statement outlining the precise adjustment needed to align it with your authentic expression, and deliver it before this transit peaks.

ACUTE ACTIVATION: Mars Opposition Natal Moon — May 26

This acute activation, with an orb of 4.5 degrees, creates a profound internal tension between your emotional core and your energetic drive. Your natal Moon is in Scorpio at 1.23°, located in your 12th house of hidden matters and subconscious patterns. Your natal Mars is in Cancer at 7.34°, situated in your 8th house of shared resources and transformation. This opposition pulls into sharp focus the conflict between your deeply private emotional needs (Moon in Scorpio in 12th) and your protective, instinctual drive to defend your shared assets and intimacy (Mars in Cancer in 8th). This is a direct psychic spike that exposes where your subconscious emotional patterns are actively undermining your capacity for decisive action within intimate dynamics. As the Architect of the Covenant, this opposition forces you to confront and then articulate the unspoken emotional agreements that dictate your reactions, particularly when issues of vulnerability or shared control arise. The tension compels you to clarify the boundaries of your emotional investment and to explicitly name the subconscious compacts that have previously operated in the shadows. This aspect terminates any ambiguity surrounding your emotional boundaries within intimate relationships, forcing an open articulation of your most guarded feelings.

Invitation: During the three days surrounding May 26, consciously observe the specific physical sensation that arises when a conversation touches upon a hidden vulnerability or shared resource, and then write down the exact protection or boundary your body needs before engaging further.

ACUTE ACTIVATION: Moon Square Natal Mars — May 26

This activation, with an orb of 4.8 degrees, reveals a moment of internal friction where your emotional responses conflict with your assertive drives. Your natal Moon is in Scorpio at 1.23°, in the 12th house, signifying deep, hidden emotional processes. Your natal Mars is in Cancer at 7.34°, in the 8th house, indicating a protective and emotionally driven will, especially around shared resources. This square acts as a precise pressure point, highlighting areas where your subconscious emotional needs (Moon) are at odds with your more direct expressions of will and desire (Mars). It forces an awareness of how your past emotional wounds or hidden sensitivities can inadvertently trigger conflict when you attempt to state yourself, particularly in contexts of shared power or intimacy. As the Architect of the Covenant, this aspect compels you to understand the precise internal mechanisms that lead to reactive communication. It forces you to identify the specific emotional triggers that derail clear agreement and subsequently, to build clauses that account for these sensitivities, thereby strengthening the integrity of your relational compacts. This transit creates a direct conflict between your unspoken emotional needs and your assertive impulses, forcing a precise understanding of the internal triggers that create relational friction.

Invitation: Within the 24 hours surrounding May 26, track a specific instance where your immediate emotional reaction felt disproportionate to the external trigger, then identify the underlying desire or protection your natal Moon in Scorpio was attempting to state.

SYNTHESIS: THE SOMATIC PRACTICE FOR THE YEAR AHEAD

This year, under the directorship of your natal Mercury in Pisces, rooted in the foundational depths of your 4th house, you are called to embody the role of the Architect of the Covenant. Your journey is one of sensing the subtle, unspoken currents within relationships and translating you into clearly articulated, emotionally resonant agreements. The Threshold of Agreement is not a sterile line, but a living interface where your deepest emotional truths (Pisces Mercury) meet the articulated terms of your connections, both personal and professional. This year, Mercury asks for a deeply felt, yet precisely expressed, understanding of mutuality. Your task is to refine the blueprints of your connections, ensuring that every compact you forge is founded on clear communication and a compassionate understanding of boundaries. The external pressures of the outer planets, including Saturn's structuring of your creative will and Jupiter's re-evaluation of your abundance, all serve to strengthen the ethical and practical foundations of these covenants. Retrogrades are your internal workshops, guiding you to retrieve and re-list the historical data embedded in your personal constitution that has shaped previous agreements.

The Practice of the Resonant Affirmation

Somatic Anchor: Vocal toning and breathwork. Find a quiet space, sit in an upright but relaxed position, and spend five minutes focusing on your breath, allowing it to deepen. Then, begin to hum softly, feeling the vibration in your chest and throat. As you hum, slowly articulate simple, clear affirmations about your relational agreements, such as "My agreements are clear and compassionate," or "I speak my truth with love." Rationale: Your natal Mercury in Pisces needs to feel the truth of a statement rather than just intellectualize it. This practice harnesses the vibratory power of sound to align your subconscious emotional currents with the conscious articulation of your agreements, directly supporting your role as the Architect of the Covenant by integrating feeling with form.

The Practice of the Unfolding Blueprint

Somatic Anchor: Journaling with the non-dominant hand combined with symbolic drawing. For areas of relational complexity, engage with your non-dominant hand to write down the unspoken or intuitively felt aspects of an agreement. Following this, use your dominant hand to draw a simple symbolic representation of the ideal structure for that agreement. Rationale: This practice bridges the intuitive, subconscious process (Pisces Mercury, non-dominant hand) with the conscious, structural articulation (dominant hand, Time Lord function). It allows for the hidden emotional truths about the Threshold of Agreement to emerge and then be formally acknowledged, integrating the diffuse Pisces energy into concrete form.

The Practice of the Conscious Clause

Somatic Anchor: Mindful pause before speaking. Before entering any significant conversation, particularly one involving an agreement or negotiation, take three intentional breaths. With each exhale, imagine releasing any assumptions or emotional baggage. Then, consciously choose the exact words that convey your needs and boundaries, ensuring you are both clear and kind. Rationale: This practice directly activates your Mercury Time Lord function, enhancing precision and intentionality in your communication. By anchoring your words in mindful awareness, you directly address the presence of Piscean indefiniteness, which ensures that your role as the Architect of the Covenant is executed with both emotional depth and crystalline clarity at every Threshold of Agreement.

The Inner Wheel

Mapping the wound to your soul's blueprint.

© 2026 The Inner Wheel Publishing, LLC

This report is for entertainment and self-reflection purposes. It does not constitute professional advice.